At NEXTIL SPORTS Division we pursue perfection in every detail, with the ambition of adding value for our clients' creations and their businesses.

We study each athlete's movements to find out how we can best help them, creating fabrics and garments that boost performance and don't add extra resistance. By understanding our client's needs and expectations, we individually define the production process required to provide the highest quality sportswear production.

Seamless

We specialise in state-of-the-art seamless technology for sports and athleisure garments with infinite design options for fibre combinations, colours, and fabric structures. Our in-house R&D department has launched 3 new patents including Non-Newtonian auxetic fabric, textiles with multidirectional compression gradients, and fabrics with reduced friction for less transparency.

Performance Fabrics

NEXTIL GROUP is one of the leading manufacturers of elastic fabrics. Using yarn made up of various fibres, we design the weft, pattern, and texture. Our equipment includes circular knitting machines of up to 44 gauges and warp knitting machines that allow us to produce all kinds of fabrics including jacquards, meshes, rib, lurex, stripes, simplex, and spacer.

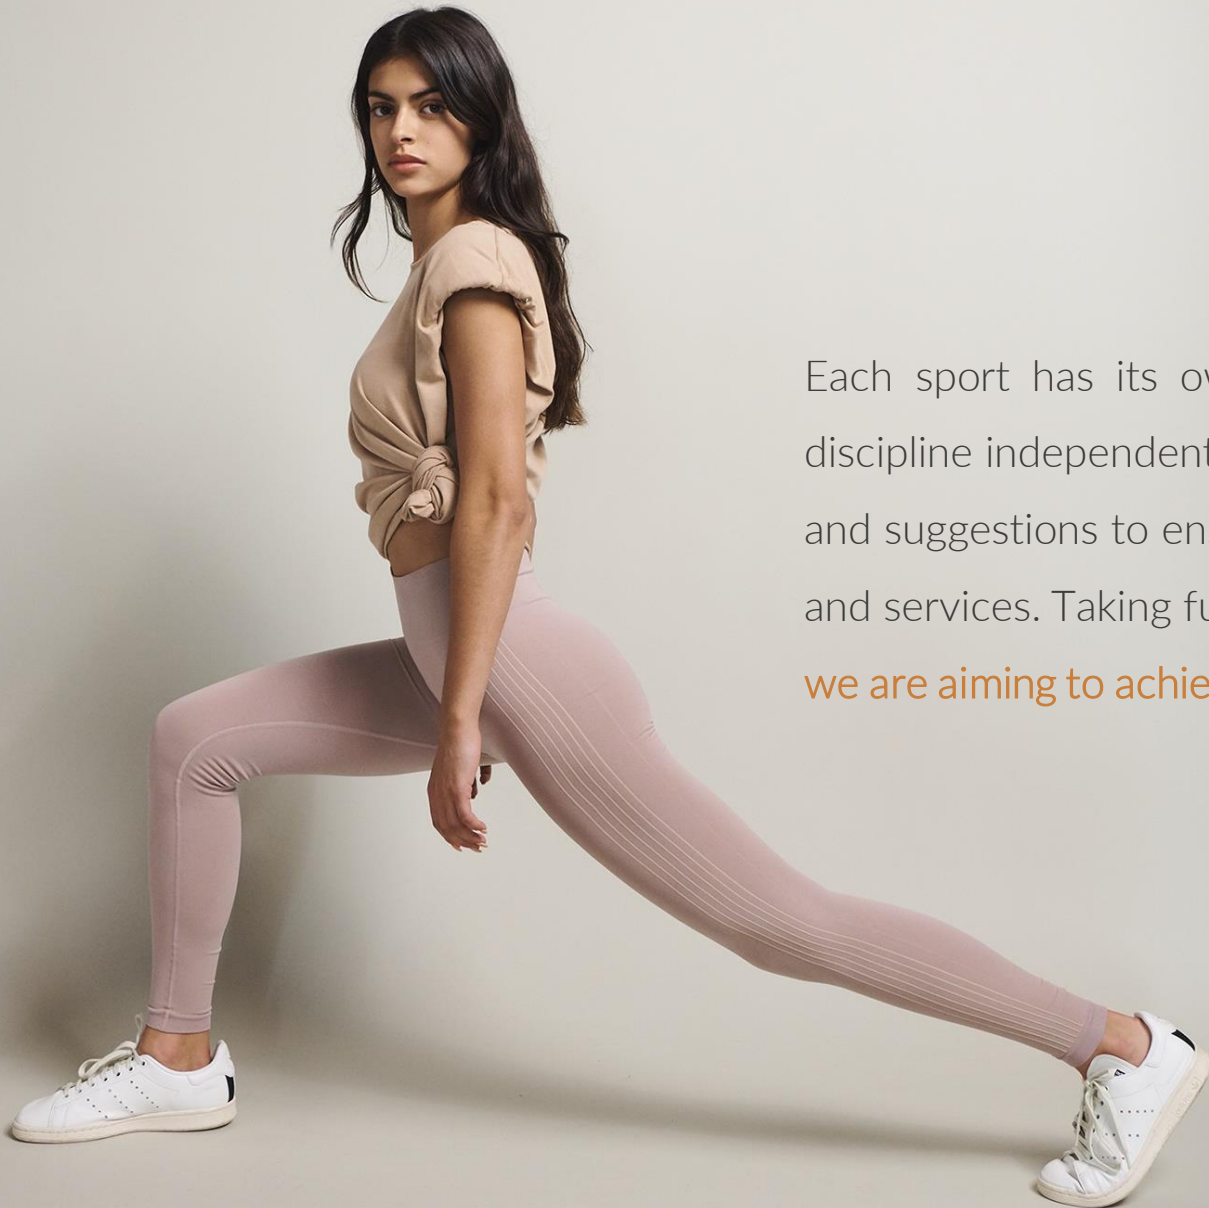

Cut & Sew

We offer a complete personalised service across the supply chain including fabric development, production and sourcing, pattern and sample development, as well as bulk production of jersey, fleece, and seamless garments, sustainable dyeing, packing and worldwide distribution. All products are developed and produced at the highest level of innovation, quality, and sustainability.

Greendyes®

Our in-house R&D department has developed a 100 % organic dyeing method. By using only natural pigments and products, the revolutionary method achieves industry colour fastness standard. The revolutionary dyeing process reduces the usage of energy, water, and time by 80%, ensuring zero water waste due to recycling. Greendyes® is available for unlimited colours.

Each sport has its own needs and requirements, hence why we analyse every discipline independently to provide support where it is needed. We present options and suggestions to ensure that our customers are totally satisfied with our products and services. Taking full advantage of our specialised knowledge and experience, we are aiming to achieve the best results and be first to the finish line.
