Materials

In an era in which eco-sustainability is an increasingly important factor, Dolomiti Pads is continually pursuing innovative, high performance and environment friendly materials.

The polyester fabric is made of a recycled yarn of previous reworked productions in order to obtain a highly performing handmade fabric with bright colors. The production of traditional pads with glue and thermo-adhesives has been increasingly replaced by the cutting technology, a process based on the foam cutting (and not on the gluing) that is faster and more precise.

The fabrics used are made of polyamide (82-81%) with a “peach hand” effect and elastane (19-20%). The “peach hand” effect gives a soft, velvety touch, pleasant to the touch like a second skin. Our fabrics are treated with antibacterial and hydrophilic process.

Our gel inserts are made of highly stable, completely non-toxic and hypoallergenic elastomeric material. The mechanical physical features of the gel inserts remain excellent for a long time.

Foams are fully certified and do not create any problem in direct contact with the skin. The high quality of our polyurethane foams allows their long life and a minimal deterioration, unlike other common foams present in the market.

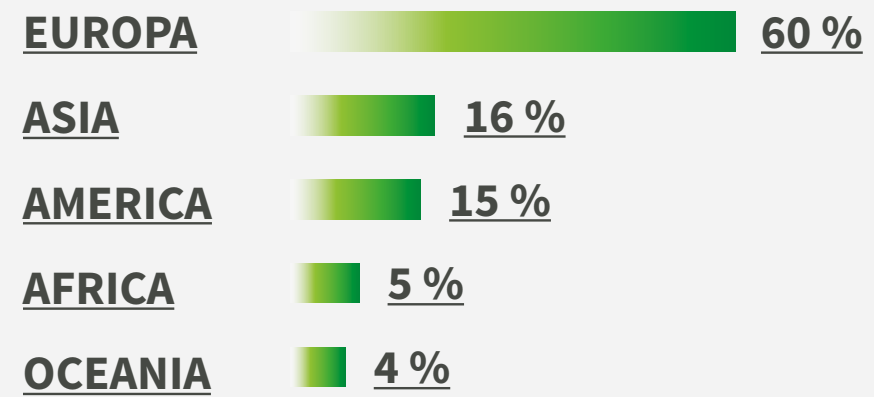

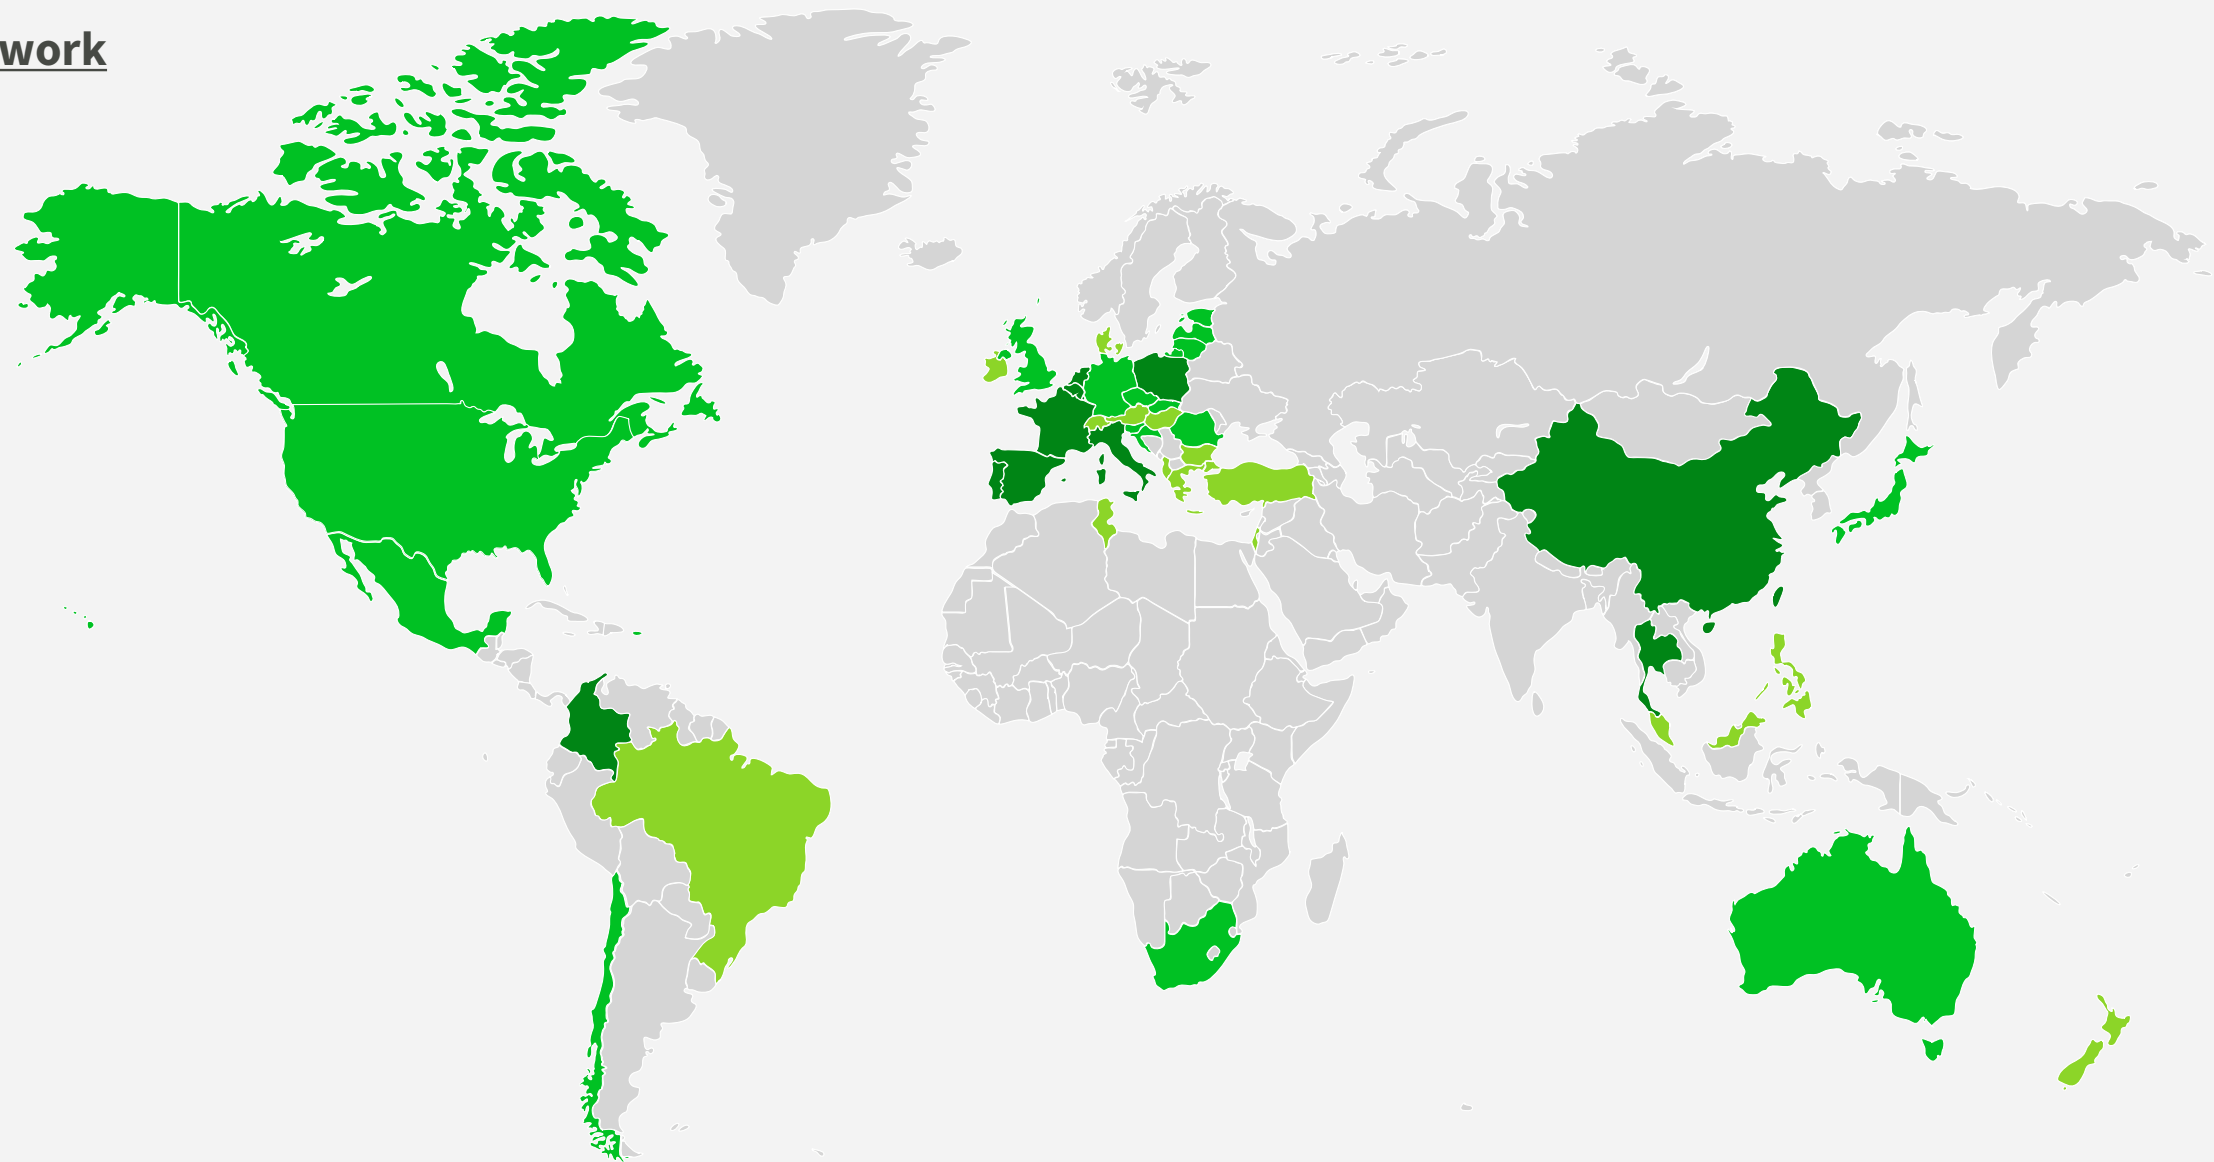

Memory is a new type of polyurethane foam viscoelastic slow memory, of high density and comfortable.

One of the main features of the memory foam is a resilience value very closed to zero, which allows the foam to take the shape of the body that must be supported.
